OPENING HYMN

Enter the house of the Lord, our God,
Enter the house of the Lord,
Sing of our God who reigns above,
Sing of his everlasting love,
Sing of his goodness all our days,
Come, be of one accord.
Lift up our voices, sing his praise,
As we enter the house of the Lord.

OPENING PRAYER

O God, protector of those who hope in You, without whom nothing has firm foundation, nothing is holy, bestow in abundance Your mercy upon us and grant that, with You as our ruler and guide, we may use the good things that pass, in such a way, as to hold fast even now, to those that ever endure. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, Your Son, who lives and reigns with You in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

76-77,127-128,129-130

Our Response is: Lord, how I love Your law!

My path, I have resolved, O Lord, is to obey your word.

The law from your mouth means more to me than silver and gold. R/

Let your love be ready to console me
by your promise to your servant.

Let your love come to me and I shall live for your law is my delight. R/

That is why I love you commands more than finest gold.
That is why I rule my life by your precepts:
I hate false ways. R/

Your will is wonderful indeed;
therefore I obey it.
The unfolding of your word gives light and teaches the simple. R/

SECOND READING

ROMANS 8: 28-30

GOSPEL

MATTHEW 13:44-52

REFLECTION

In today's materialistic world, we are so attached to possessions and our "favourite things" that we loosen our grip on the ultimate treasure i.e. God's kingdom. Today's reading tells us how we can experience the power of God's kingdom. Let us pray that we may grow in wisdom and discernment to make the right decisions in attaining the kingdom of God. Today, as we celebrate the feasts of St. Joachim and St. Anne, the parents of our Blessed Virgin Mary, let us thank God for our parents and grandparents and pray for their wellbeing and protection.

In the first reading, we hear God offering Solomon something that each of us must have wished for at some time or another, "Ask what you would like me to give you". As a young king, Solomon could have asked for wealth, power, fame, worldly pleasures or possessions but in his humility, he asked God for wisdom and understanding so that he could be a worthy servant of God in leading God's people on the path of righteousness. When God offers such a proposition, He expects that our request will not be selfish but rather be beneficial for us as well as for others in the kingdom of God. What would I ask for if God made a similar offer to me today? Pause

The second reading exemplifies God's graciousness and love at work in choosing us and sharing His glory with us. If we love God and place our trust in Him, all things will work out for our good. This is very reassuring especially during these difficult times of the Covid 19 pandemic. When we sing the responsorial psalm, we acknowledge that God's law guides our lives. He is also the treasure of our hearts. Will I continue to trust God to take charge of my life and to enrich it? Pause

The Gospel passage compares the kingdom of God to "a treasure hidden in a field" and to "a pearl of great value" which once found, leads us to let go of everything else and focus on it alone. Thus, once we acquire the treasure of God's kingdom, all other good and desirable things will follow in our lives. But we can only experience the power of the kingdom of God if we are willing to sacrifice what we possess. It means we continue living the vocation we are called to with our prime focus on God's kingdom and its values. When we are blessed with the gift of wisdom and discernment, we learn to evaluate and appreciate that which is valuable and spend our time and energy pursuing it. When we overvalue earthly possessions, we devalue God. What do I consider the greatest treasure in my life? What am I willing to sacrifice in order to acquire it? Pause
